Title: Indiana University South Bend Jubilee

Abstract:

This collection includes Indiana University South Bend Jubilee year materials and associated documents of various kinds. . The IUSB Jubilee is a celebration of three anniversaries: 100 years of classes being offered by IUSB, 50 years of diplomas being conferred at IUSB, and 25 years of providing academic programs through a unified School of Arts. Indiana University South Bend started offering classes in the city of South Bend through the Indiana University Extension System in the 1915-1916 academic year. The campus was able to grant its own degrees from the South Bend campus in 1967. And its Raclin School of the Arts started as a named and endowed school in 1992. Indiana University South Bend celebrated its Jubilee with a Gala celebration on April 29, 2017 attended by IUSB alumni, faculty, staff, community members as well as faculty and staff from the wider University. This was termed the “Party of the Century”. Kelly Kish, IU Chief of Staff in the University President’s Office and IU Bicentennial Director gave the keynote address at the Gala on the history of IUSB and its connection to the wider University.
